

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI
DEL MOLISE

Erasmus+

Call for PhD scholarship

Debre Markos University in collaboration with University of Molise, Italy, and Jimma University win the Erasmus+ mobility project from European funding programme. The project will be carried out in three years (2020-2023), offering international mobility opportunity for graduate students to study at the University of Molise, Italy for a period of 6 months per academic year and 12 months in total for 3 years. PhD candidates who will be recruited in this mobility project should be registered in Debre Markos University, College of Natural and Computational Science, Department of Biology (specializing in Applied Entomology). The project has no a stipend during the stay in Debre Markos University, Ethiopia.

The students envisage an Italian language course during their stay at Molise University and take PhD program courses (that will be given in English), working in labs, participate in seminars, and study visits in companies, industries and farms during the study periods in University of Molise. The mobility program is believed to enrich and enhance the academic competencies of the Ethiopian students.

Admission requirements :- Prospective candidates to the program should have:
MSc or equivalent degree in Biology, Applied Entomology/Insect Sciences, Medical entomology, Agricultural entomology, Post harvest, Veterinary medicine, Zoology.

Deadline of Application : 15 January 2021

For further information please contact Dr Getnet Atenafu via getnet.atenafu@gmail.com, Mobile: 0912080284,
Debre Markos University, Debre Markos, Ethiopia